

Deciding With Support

Who I want in my Behaviour Support Team Workbook Supporter Guide

The Who I want in my Behaviour Support team workbook is a tool to help the person you support decide and record, who they want and do not want in their Behaviour Support team.

This worksheet is designed to be used alongside their completed My Circle of Support Worksheet.

Once the My Circle of Support worksheet is completed the decision maker can refer to it to help them decide who they want in their Behaviour Support team.

The Behaviour Support Practitioner will help to make sure the people on the decision maker's team know about behaviour support. They will guide them in building their understanding and skills in behaviour support.

Who I want in my Behaviour Support Team

Name

Where I live

Phone Number

Date

Who I want in my Behaviour Support Team.

Look at your circle of support worksheet to help you decide who you want in your Behaviour Support team.

Your practitioner and your supporters can help you decide this.

To help you make this decision you can think about

- Who knows you well
- Who knows what you like and do not like
- Who supports and helps you

Have a look at who Lily wants in her Behaviour Support team.

This is who I want in my Behaviour Support team

Who I want in my team

My Mum

Ella my sister

Lisa my speech Therapist

Matt my OT

Gemma my support worker

Who I do not want in my team

Dr Chang

My friends

Max and Sara from work program

Who do you want in your Behaviour Support team?

You can write or draw your answer here.

Who I want in my team

Who I do not want in my team